Welcome to the Haus

The Codehaus is an open-source project repository with a strong emphasis on modern languages, focussed on quality components that meet real world needs.

We believe in open source as a pragmatic approach to software development, and all our projects are business-friendly in terms of licensing.

Enjoy your stay at the haus!

Featured Project - Boo

Boo is an object oriented, statically typed programming language for the Common Language Infrastructure (the .NET runtime) with a Python inspired syntax and a special focus on language and compiler extensibility.

If you want to try Boo, start with the Getting Started guide.
