

Home

Administrivial News

Confluence 2.1.1 deployed

Ben Walding posted on Dec 26, 2005

Confluence 2.1.1 has been deployed and all spaces upgraded.

There are quite a few new features. Check the release notes if you're super curious.

FishEye 1.1 deployed

Ben Walding posted on Dec 26, 2005

FishEye 1.1 has been deployed on beaver. This allows subversion + fisheye compatibility.

All projects (cvs/svn) have been loaded into FishEye (excluding stealth projects).

If you've been tinkering with your project's scm directory, then it might not work.

This is one of the perils of messing with our standard directory structures. You can raise a chore to have your project fixed.

Recently Resolved Chores

com.atlassian.confluence.macro.MacroExecutionException: JIRA project does not exist or you do not have permission to view it.