

The Groovy Weekly newsletter

The "Groovy Weekly" column has launched!

On a weekly basis, you'll be able to get all the latest news, filtered and categorized, about the Groovy ecosystem, with information such as the latest releases, upcoming events, news about various projects of the Groovy world, job postings, interesting tweets or mailing-list posts, and more. If you want to get up-to-date on everything Groovy, that's what you'll have to read!

The first two editions have been published here:

- Groovy Weekly #1 — Dec 24th
- Groovy Weekly #2 — Dec 31st

Note that going forward, as we're working on a redesigned Groovy website, the blog posts will likely migrate to the future Groovy blog instead.

The release of the column should take place every week, and will be announced via different means: mailing-list, tweeter, Google+, and on this blog. But if you prefer to receive this information directly in your inbox, you can subscribe to the Groovy Weekly newsletter.

Also, this column is yours! If you want to contribute news items, don't hesitate to do so via the contribution form.

We're looking forward to hearing about your feedback about this weekly column!

And on behalf of the Groovy team, we'd like to wish you a very Groovy New Year!